Communion, The Sacrament of Peace With God

Man, having sinned, felt an instinctive fear of God. Immediately after yielding to the tempter, he dared not answer the voice of His Creator but hid himself and fled from His visage.

This sensation of fear is so natural to us when we have done wrong that even a child, in spite of its mother's tenderness, hesitates to go near her when it has disobeyed her. The criminal fleeing from human justice is so possessed with fear that it is written in his face and may even reveal his guilt.

Fear before God is the same, and greater still. You think a certain sinner is hardened and continues in sin simply from pride? Ah no! He is afraid of God; and the greater his sin, the more afraid he is. He may sink to the very depths of iniquity, perpetrate crime after crime; he but gives further proof of his fear. What is despair but the false conviction that one will not be forgiven and is destined to fall into the hands of an inexorable Judge? People who refuse to come to church are afraid of our Lord. If on some occasion they are forced to come, they are embarrassed and nervous. The sinner is afraid of himself; he can not live with his own heart and conscience; he frightens himself! That is why he seeks distraction; he is fleeing from himself.

Sacred Scripture shows us this fear so dominant in mankind that even the holiest persons trembled if God appeared to them, or spoke to them in the form of an angel.

God took four thousand years to prepare the reconciliation of man, which was to be perfected only in the Eucharist. The Incarnation greatly advanced this work of regaining man's confidence, but it was not enough. For thirty-three years only, Jesus gave evidence to us of His goodness, and we may say that if He had deprived us of His presence after this short period of time, we should be as subject to fear as were the Jews before His advent. Could the Incarnation, work of salvation though it was and a sublime testimonial of the love and power of God, suffice to establish the confidence of friendship between the Creator and His creature? No; friendship demands constant personal intercourse.

Therefore, our Lord instituted the Most Holy Eucharist. By means of this Sacrament He is in our thought, in us, with us, beside us, continuing and perfecting His work of making us His intimates and friends. Hiding His glory, He comes to us in the incognito of friendship, just as if a king were to assume the guise of a poor man and, seating himself at his table, say to him: "I belong to your family; treat me as one of you." Yet no! Jesus Christ does even more; He comes to us under the appearance of bread. Who can be afraid of a grain of wheat? Could God find a better way to veil His Majesty? . . .

O most beautiful Flower of Mount Carmel, fruitful vine, splendor of Heaven, Blessed Mother of the Son of God, Immaculate Virgin, assist me in this my necessity. O Star of the Sea, help me and show me herein that you are my Mother.

O Holy Mary, Mother of God, Queen of Heaven and earth, I humbly beseech you from the bottom of my heart, to assist me in this my necessity. There are none that can withstand your power. O show me herein that you are my Mother.

O Mary, conceived without sin, pray for us who have recourse to thee. (3 times)

Sweet Mother, I place this cause in your hands. (3 times)

Feast of Our Lady of Mt. Carmel is July 16th. Father will enroll anyone who wishes, in the Brown Scapular after the 7:00 pm Mass. Scapulars are available in our parish bookstore.

Holy Water

This Catholic tradition is particularly beautiful and rich in meaning, and it's also of very early origin in the life of the Church. The primary meaning of this ancient custom is to signify the baptismal "washing of the soul" that takes place at baptism. As St. Paul explains: "He saved us through the bath of rebirth and renewal by the Holy Spirit, whom he richly poured out on us through Jesus Christ our savior, so that we might be justified by his grace and become heirs in hope of eternal life."

Each time a Catholic enters a church and dips his hand into the holy water font to bless himself with the sign of the cross, he is renewing his baptismal covenant with God. This grace-filled action recalls the words of St. Paul above, as well as reminds us of our baptism "in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit."

~ Summer Dress Code ~

Please recall that everyone is expected to dress with modesty and in a way befitting the house of God. Our choice of clothing is an expression of our worship; it may also affect the ability of others to worship. Dress should conceal rather than reveal. There is a sign in the vestibule that gives more details regarding proper dress. It is further expected that modesty in dress be maintained on the church grounds at all times.

We do request that the correction of visitors in this matter be left to the priests or their delegates.
